

Our community is seeing unprecedented momentum, growth and excitement. People are returning to the region, setting roots and taking part in what makes Fort Wayne great. Although, momentum takes constant effort to maintain and build. Emerging leaders are taking actions to build off the successes we've had. It is through events like YLNI's My City Summit where new ideas are created, initiatives are formed and innovation takes off. We encourage you to take part in this significant community-wide event. Help us continue to build emerging leaders, build better connections, build more reasons to stay and build on the momentum we have today.
